Duncan Booth

Foodservice Manager at
Thomas Foods

“As a family business, it is very gratifying to uphold our core values, and working with CCI members is one small way of supporting the community that supports us”

Established in 1988, Thomas Foods International is a family run and operated business dedicated to supplying quality meat and seafood products to Australian businesses and organisations. They pride themselves on the ability to cater and scale the product offering to organisations of all sizes and tailoring products to meet changing customer requirements. With eight local offices and facilities across six states and territories to support the success of over 7,100 customers, Thomas Foods International is a business who can provide national coverage, but act locally.

As a supplier to CCI initially through the acquisition of Holco, Thomas Foods have been supporting members for 20 years. Through the partnership with Cappo Seafood, members can source reliable, quality protein options across beef, chicken, pork, lamb, fish and seafood options to suit their menu requirements.

Duncan says: "Our team of dedicated industry professionals are proud to work with the not for profit sector in partnership with CCI and deliver the right protein solutions for their organisations."
