Major Account Manager

“Being a CCI supplier has helped our business build relationships in the not for profit sector, supporting our Corporate Responsibility Policy”

Operating in Australia since 1982, REMONDIS Australia has grown and diversified to become one of the largest waste and recycling companies in the country. REMONDIS have had a supply relationship with CCI from 2015 by supporting the not for profit sector through providing cost effective, innovative and reliable waste management solutions.

The focus of REMONDIS is to offer customer support and service excellence and to work in collaboration with CCI members. REMONDIS have built their business around a core set of values that includes a commitment to ethical leadership, partnership, quality and environmental stewardship.

Paul says: “our partnership with CCI and not for profit members is important to our business. We understand the importance of corporate support in the disability, education, aged housing and social services sectors. Part of our company vision is to engage and innovate our service solutions to provide a meaningful contribution”.
